Webster's Email – The Activity Book: Media Kit

Media kits are provided for use by writers, bloggers, journalists or anyone else requiring detailed information about our books.

Synopsis

Webster's email adventures continue in this exciting new activity book, based on the original children's picture book.

Word, number and colour puzzles are included alongside mazes, quizzes, colouring-in and plenty of drawing fun!

Target Audience

Children 3-8

Webster's Email – The Activity Book is an ideal educational tool for parents, teachers and librarians, and accompanies the picture book Webster's Email.

Author Biography

Hannah Whaley is based in Scotland, and has always worked to combine education, technology and research. She graduated with a degree in Applied Computing in 2004 and was named UK Learning Technologist of the Year in 2007, before moving into University library management in 2009. Her books help introduce children to technology from an early age through reading and stories.

Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

New Activity Book Released to Accompany Webster's Email

Dundee, Scotland – November 30, 2014 – Packed with puzzles, games and colouring-in! Webster's Email adventures continue in this exciting new activity book, based on the original children's picture book.

Further extending the educational opportunities offered by the original Webster's Email (Born Digital Books, August 2014) picture book, this new accompanying activity book reinforces the vocabulary associated with email technology, counting to 20, and the topic of oversharing online.

Word, number and colour puzzles are included alongside mazes, quizzes, colouring-in and plenty of drawing fun! Each is designed to emphasise the unintended consequences of Webster's email, highlighting how many people it reached, and who they sent it on to themselves.

This new activity book will be a useful resource to parents, teachers and children's librarians.

Webster's Email and Webster's Email: The Activity Book are available now on Amazon in paperback.
